IMPACT

LETTER FROM THE PRESIDENT

Dear Members and Friends,

We are excited to invite you to join us for an inspiring and impactful experience at this year's conference. With our theme, "Ripples of Impact," we are reminded that every action, conversation, and collaboration has the potential to create lasting change that resonates throughout our communities.

This conference offers a valuable opportunity to step back, reflect, and refresh our understanding of why we are so committed to aging services. In the midst of a constantly changing landscape, it's important to reconnect with the core of our work and renew our passion for the impact we create.

We've crafted an agenda full of engaging sessions and thought-provoking speakers, each offering insights that will empower you to take what you learn back to your organization and community. Whether you're gaining fresh perspectives or diving deeper into the challenges we face, this conference is designed to provide you with the tools, inspiration, and connections needed to bring renewed energy to your work.

Beyond the formal sessions, this conference is an essential opportunity to reconnect with peers, exchange ideas, and strengthen relationships that are vital as we navigate an environment of continuous change and uncertainty. Gathering in person helps transform our perspectives, deepen our understanding, and build bonds that sustain us through the ongoing challenges we face, especially in times of shifting regulations and evolving demands. The community we cultivate here is a source of strength and inspiration, empowering us to return to our organizations with renewed energy and purpose, ready to create positive change for the individuals and families we serve.

We look forward to seeing you in Sunriver, where we will reflect on our shared mission, rejuvenate our passion, and create ripples of impact that carry us into the future of aging services.

See you in Sunriver!

KEYNOTE: LEADING AND LIVING THROUGH YOUR VALUES

wednesday, may 21, 9:00-10:30am

Who you are, what you hold dear, what upsets you, and what underlies your decisions as a leader are all connected to your personal values. The missed opportunity is, most people never take the time to learn about those precious and powerful intrinsic values!

In this session you will experience an introspective reflection on your very own personal values and recognize how they influence your personal and professional endeavors including overcoming the current staffing crisis. You'll learn practical strategies you can implement immediately to apply these values in your daily routines, allowing you to use them as a driving force and a personal true north star.

Meet Denise Boudreau, President, Drive

Denise Boudreau is founder of Drive, a culture consultancy firm that optimizes recruitment and retention, exclusively for healthcare and senior living organizations. She has over 20 years of experience working in acute care and aging services where, as a dietary aide, CNA and Administrator, she experienced many healthy and unhealthy cultures.

Denise became nicknamed "The Queen of Culture" when others started to notice that she had a bit of a vigorous addiction to it: not only did she found Drive, but she also founded the non-profit New Jersey Alliance for Culture Change (as one does) in between chairing the Marketing Committee for the National Long Term Care Administrators' Board (NAB) and serving as an Executive in Residence at Cornell, her alma mater, where she received her Master's in—ready for it?—Health Administration after completing a Bachelor of Science in Gerontology from the University of Scranton.

BREAKOUT SESSIONS

wednesday, may 21, 10:45am-12:00pm

Tired to Inspired

Denise Boudreau, President, Drive

We all come into the aging services field wanting to make a difference in the lives of others, but after a few years we find ourselves feeling more tired than inspired! In this unique and powerful presentation, you'll discover the astonishing underlying cause of the fatigue that so often turns the most idealistic and well-intentioned staff into part of the problem. You'll find out how doing the right thing, in every sense of the word, will fill your community, build your reputation and have the hearts of your staff brimming with the love and enthusiasm that led them into aging services in the first place. You'll take an exhilarating round trip from tired to inspired and return to your workplace with new ideas and concepts, and a simple but amazingly effective system to raise and sustain everyone's energy.

AI in Senior Living: Expert Insights and Governance in a Changing Landscape

Kristi Stoglin, Chief Client Experience Officer, Parasol Alliance

Do you share the same uncertainty and fear of AI as many others? In senior living, AI is making a big impact, improving the resident experience and boosting operations. Tools like chatbots, copilots, and transcription apps are just the beginning. We chatted with 18 leading senior living AI experts to get their take on where AI is headed and what it means for senior living. Plus, we'll break down what you need to know about AI governance to ensure it's used the right way in your community. Find out how AI is changing the game—and how you can stay ahead.

SB 99 Training Conversation

Pamela Kaufmann, Partner, Hanson Bridgett LLP

Christine Thelen, Shareholder, Ballard Spahr

SB 99 requires all staff in licensed long-term care settings to complete LGBTQIA2S+ training, with compliance mandatory as of the end of last year. In this session, we'll discuss how the Oregon Department of Human Services (ODHS) is evaluating compliance with this requirement. We'll also examine any updates to the training content or requirements and explore the impact of new federal developments on this initiative.

Project Management Essentials

Zach Howell, Principal, BEAR Consulting Services

This course will give maintenance an overview of how a project should be planned, organized, outlined, bid, and awarded. We will discuss preconstruction planning, scope development, dealing with residents, bidding, and overseeing contractors.

Leading People with less education, literacy, or English skills: Let them Understand

Gabby Hernandez, Assistant Administrator for Health Services, Friendsview

Elizabeth Todd, Program Coordinator: Career Pathways and Accessible Learning, Friendsview

You want everyone to understand your communications, have access to all benefits, be well-trained, follow safety protocols, and avoid unnecessary problems with HR. So do we. We'll share our experience with accessible learning, introduce you to a process anyone can follow, let you practice, and give you time to plot your next steps.

Oregon Health and Human Services -- Is it a citation?

Join us for an informative session with the Oregon Department of Human Services (ODHS) Aging and People with Disabilities (APD) team, where we'll explore real-life scenarios to determine when citations are issued in both nursing facility (NF) and community-based care (CBC) settings. Through thoughtful discussion and analysis, we'll review specific cases and examine the factors that influence whether a citation is issued. This session offers a valuable opportunity to deepen your understanding of the citation process and how it applies to different care environments, ensuring you stay informed and compliant in your practice.

Fueling Growth: Strategies and Funding Sources for Not-For-Profit Providers

Adam Vanucci, Vice President, Ziegler

According to the 2023 LeadingAge Ziegler 200 report, roughly 70% of providers are undertaking an expansion or campus repositioning project in the next two years. While exceptions exist, not-for-profit providers have historically been more risk averse and slower to grow than owners and operators in the private sector. Demographics are in the providers' favor as the number of seniors in the US is expected to double over the next 15 years. Not-for-profit providers need to seize this opportunity and commit to strategic growth endeavors before their market share declines even further. Despite the decline, senior living providers have continued their growth through expansions, new campuses as well as affiliations and accessing capital is paramount to fueling this growth. Understanding how to appropriately access the capital resources is important as well as the need to strategically develop long-range capital plans. When taking on additional debt for these projects, providers need to also be thinking ahead to future capital needs and should structure the deal(s) with this in mind. This session will give an overview of the importance of growth, types of growth available to not-for-profit providers as well as how to fund it. Additionally, examples will be given of specific growth initiatives that providers can explore.

5 KEYS to Confidence Outside of Your Comfort Zone

Zach Howell, Principal, BEAR Consulting Services

In Maintenance we are pushed outside of our comfort zone constantly, but it doesn't have to feel chaotic or overwhelming. This course will focus on the 5 keys to finding strength and confidence when we are in uncomfortable situations where we feel like we have no control. These keys will help you grow personally and professionally and will become a well used tool within your skills toolbox.

BREAKOUT SESSIONS

Seven Dimensions of Balance

Tamera Reynolds, Director of Wellness and Life Enrichment, Terwilliger Plaza

This whole-person, lifestyle focused balance program examines fall prevention through the lens of the Seven Dimensions of Wellness. During this session, we will discuss each of the dimensions in relation to how they relate to balance and the prevention of life-altering falls. This session gives a brief overview of the content as well as how to implement it. Attendees will be given the tools to facilitate an 8-week fall prevention in their communities with broad programming that is customizable for their particular clientele. Included in the programming are activities to draw out participation and engagement, homework assignments, and exercises to build strength, stability, mobility, balance, and confidence.

Rose Villa's Resiliency Action Plan (RAP)

Jim Willeford, Director of Strategic Operations, Rose Villa Living Community
Glen Lewis, CEO, Rose Villa Living Community

As senior living communities confront the growing threats of natural and man-made emergencies, Rose Villa's "Resiliency Action Plan" stands out as an example of strategic foresight. Grounded in evidence-based best practices and industry expertise, this comprehensive initiative equips leaders with the knowledge and tools to maintain critical operations and service delivery, even in the face of crisis. Attendees will gain invaluable insights into Rose Villa's planning process, innovative projects, and the predicted outcomes that position their campus as an example of resilience in the senior living sector.

Intergenerational Living for All—Findings, Insights, and Best Practices from the SAGE-AIA Design for Aging Joint Intergenerational Task Force

Lisa Warnock, Principal and Founder, Glow Interior Designs

Lisa Sneddon, Senior Interior Designer, Glow Interior Designs

Incorporating intergenerational design and programming is a fast-moving trend in senior living and provides a market advantage to owners and developers. However, traditional senior living design often falls short of fostering genuine intergenerational connections. In response, designers, developers, and operators are adopting diverse approaches to embrace this trend. This presentation will present the findings, insights, and best practices from the SAGE-AIA Design for Aging Joint Intergenerational Task Force based on a recent survey and discussion with their members. The presentation will highlight communities, both domestic and international, that incorporate the best practices in intergenerational design and operations and provide actionable takeaways for attendees. LeadingAge Oregon's own, Lisa Warnock, is a founding member of the Intergenerational Task Force, and is sharing the information locally, for those that missed it at Environments for Aging last year.

Out of Sight Out of Mind

Zach Howell, Principal, BEAR Consulting Services

In this course we will bring into the light many of the things that may be around us all the time but we have become desensitized to and forget to address or prioritize. Our day go so fast and can be very busy, but we need to always be aware of the items that can decrease liability, increase safety, and keep us prepared for the worst.

Hot Legal Issues and Updates for Senior Living and Long Term Organizations, Providers and Employers

Gabi Sanchez, Shareholder, Ballard Spahr

Jeff Duncan, Shareholder, Ballard Spahr

The senior living and long term care industry faces ever-increasing regulatory and legal challenges. These challenges can substantially impact key aspects of your community or facility, from licensure and re-licensure; to hiring, training, and retaining staff; to championing resident rights and providing residents a safe and homelike environment. Failure to track and comply with these regulatory and legal developments can result in adverse agency action and civil lawsuits – and substantially disrupt your community or facility. To help you to meet these regulatory and legal challenges, this presentation will provide attendees with up-to-date information on key legal developments and trends. This presentation will also provide practical suggestions to help you to proactively comply with the law and to document and demonstrate your compliance.

Leadership Mentoring: Developing and Cultivating Effective Leaders in your Teams

Cynthia McDaniel, CEO & Founder, NurseLearn

July Lumague-Test, Program Director and Lead Nurse Mentor, NurseLearn

Effective leadership is vital to the success of all aspects of care. Yet, many nurses lack the guidance and support needed to develop into strong leaders. This presentation will provide practical strategies for cultivating nurse leadership, delving into the core components of an impactful mentoring relationship, including how to provide constructive feedback, foster emotional intelligence, and support decision-making in high-pressure environments. Specifically, attendees will: Discuss real-world examples of successful mentoring practices that have helped nurses transition from clinical roles into leadership positions, improving both team dynamics and resident care outcomes. Explore different mentoring models (e.g., one-on-one, peer, and group mentoring) and how to tailor them to fit the unique needs of nursing staff at various stages of their careers. By the end of the session, participants will have a clear understanding of how to build and sustain effective nurse leadership mentoring practices that foster a new generation of strong, compassionate leaders in healthcare.

Down with the Sickness – Healthcare's Cybersecurity Affliction

RJ Stalkamp, Manager – Penetration Testing, CLA

Given recent cyberattacks on two major players in the healthcare industry, the need to protect and secure protected health information is in the forefront of potential business and operational risks facing healthcare entities today. With patient care and lives at risk, the ability of healthcare entities to ensure a robust cybersecurity posture is paramount to keeping patients safe during and after care. During this panel-based session, you will hear two perspectives concerning cybercrime and cyberattacks impacting the healthcare industry today and some of the best practices to undertake to minimize the risk of becoming the next victim of a successful data breach or system compromise.

CLOSING SESSION: LEADING FROM “WHAT IF?”

Thursday, May 22, 2:15-3:15pm

Debby Gonzalez, Vice President of Operations, HumanGood

Imagine leading from the idea of "what if." How different could things be at your communities? What innovative things could we do for our industry?

One of the first steps is learning to approach problems from a yes approach rather than all the reasons why we can't. Sharing examples of how to accomplish this in an industry full of rules and regulations.

This presentation will be interactive with a power point, photos of implemented ideas from residents and team members at various communities. Takeaways will be ideas for innovative approaches to daily suggestions, ways to make your residents and team members feel heard and appreciated and how this approach improves resident satisfaction as well as team member retention. A resident group wants you to hire goats to graze their shared garden and "fertilize" the beds? - Sure! A memory support resident insists on inspecting the kitchen because she "owns" the building? - Of course! Team members want to shadow other departments to see career growth potential? - Sounds great! Before your brain tells you all of the ways something won't work, or the risks involved, or the cost...try asking "what if?" What if I say yes? How would that look and what positive outcomes might come from it?
